

Unusual Traveler

Christian Lindgren

I am a young(-ish) Norwegian fella who loves to travel! Often I find myself drawn to the places where no-one, or at least few people, considers going to. So.. why do I then have a blog?

Well, on my journeys I come across a lot of awesome backpackers and people who never thought it possible to travel to places like North Korea, Iran, Pakistan or other places that are considered "a little shady".

So, because there is the very little first-hand experience out there, and even fewer people writing about it (despite people's interest), I decided to share my experiences and views – the past, present and future!
